There's A Fly In My Soup

Role Play Topic: Ordering and eating food at a restaurant.

Description:

In this role play scenario, students would use their knowledge of food vocabulary and common questions to order food in English at a restaurant. This a common role play topic for English classes with beginner learners.

To make this role play more fun, tell students that after they have ordered their food, and the food has been served, they should then act out that there is a 'problem' with the food. This 'problem' could be something as simple as "There's a fly in my soup!" or "My food is too cold!", but you can let your students be as imaginative as they like.

Where To?

Role Play Topic: Taking A Taxi And Giving Directions

Description:

In this role play one student should be the taxi driver and one or two students should be the passenger(s). The passenger(s) will tell the taxi driver where they want to go. For example, “Take me to the hospital, please.”, “Take me to the candy shop, please.”, etc. But, there is a problem! This is the taxi drivers first day on the job. And so he/she does not know how to get to the destination. To get to where they want to go, the passengers must give directions to the taxi driver.

I Don't Think So!

Role Play Topic: Debate / Disagreement

Description:

In this role play students should act out an argument between two friends.

First choose a fun debate topic. Next, students should act out meeting one of their friends in the street. They begin to talk but everything one person says, the other person disagrees with.

News Report

Role Play Topic: Past Tense

Description:

This last role play idea is a great way to review past tense with students.

Ask students to imagine a funny / crazy thing that happened in their town and then to create a news report about it. For example, 'There's a rhino loose in the city!'.
