2. I have a cold.

We can use this simple sentence to tell what kind of illness we have.

We can use it with other illnesses and symptoms.

- I have a fever.
- I have the flu.
- I have a stomachache.
- I have a headache.

3. I think I am going to be sick.

This expression means that we think that we are going to throw up or vomit. We only use this when we are talking about vomiting.

We can use the following expressions when we think that we are becoming sick.

- I think I am getting sick.
- I might be getting sick.

Read the conversation.

- Doctor: Hi, how are you?
- Patient: Not so good.
- Doctor: What's wrong?
- Patient: I have a fever and a cough. I'm also sneezing.
- Doctor: Let me take your temperature. Hmm... 101 degrees. Do you have a headache?
- Patient: Yes, I do.
- Doctor: I think you have the flu. Take this medicine two times a day. Get some rest. Drink a lot of water.
- Patient: Thank you.
- Doctor: I hope you feel better!
