Possessive Pronouns

A possessive or absolute possessive pronoun is used to denote somebody's property. We use it when referring to a specific person, object, idea, or other nouns belonging to a person.

The use of the correct possessive pronoun depends on three things:

- Quantity (e.g., its for singular, theirs for plural)
- Perspective (e.g., mine for the first person, yours for the second person)
- Gender (e.g., his for male, hers for female)
